LOOKING AHEAD

September is New Generations Month

September is New Generations month, and we are encouraged to focus on the great range of Rotary programs, catering for youth. Many of these programs are conducted by Clubs across our District, and are addressing the needs and ambitions of young people, by providing them with encouragement, leadership training, education, and international experience.

These young people – our NEW GENERATIONS - are the future leaders in our communities and we, as Rotarians, are in the privileged position, of being able to take a lead role in developing their skills and maximising their talents, whilst at the same time being alert to the opportunity of embracing the way in which young people communicate through modern technology, and the values that are important to them.

I warmly thank our New Generations Chair Helen Lanigan, for accepting this leadership role, and if you need information, inspiration or guidance at any time please contact Helen. Her contact details are in the District Directory.

The weekend of September 24th and 25th, sees the Australian Rotaract Conference being held in Melbourne. This will be a showcase occasion for Rotaract, and their members would receive great encouragement to have Rotarians from our District in attendance. Details are elsewhere in Septembers edition of Latitude 38.

As Jill and I travel around our District making Club visits, I am inspired by the level of activities being undertaken by Clubs, the high profile they have in their local communities, and the dedication and commitment of Members. An issue that arises regularly at these meetings, is their thirst for Rotary knowledge. I therefore recommend that as many members as possible register, at one of the two "Avenues of Service" forums, being conducted by P.P.Chris Booth in October. The first seminar will be on Sunday 9th October in Berwick and the second on Sunday 30th October in Churchill. These enjoyable forums are generally very well attended, and provide a wide range of information on the latest Rotary programs. Ask your Club Secretary for registration details.
